This branch of the Christian Church has long felt its influence for good. Bishop Doggett then introduced Mrs. Lambuth, wife of Rev. J. W. Lambuth, missionary of the Southern Methodist Church at Shanghai, China. He said: Mrs. Lambuth left the city of Richmond twenty-one years ago to labor with her husband in this distant heathen land. She is here by invitation of the Methodist Sunday-School Society of Richmond specially to give such information as she thinks will give the Church a clear idea of the great missionary work in China and to awaken a lively interest in this great cause. She said it was doubtless a novel sight to hear a lady addressing an audience in this city, but she felt impelled to do so at the request of the Society; and fel; it a duty she owed to the thousands of heathen, who must have the gospel or perish almost in sight of a Christian land. She left this country twenty-one years ago, from the wharf at New York city, in company with Mr. Lambuth, Rev. Dr. Jenkins, Rev. D. C. Kelly, and Rev. J. S. Belton, and was over four months reaching China. Since then Rev. Drs. Jenkins and Belton have died and gone to their reward. At first they found it difficult to learn the language; but, feeling the necessity, they persevered, and can now converse and teach the natives in their own language. English books are translated, and then used in tenching them. Special attention has been paid to the translation of the Bible. This has been found difficult, as there China are very intelligent, but the females are kept in ignorance-no schools and no efforts to learn them to read or write. They are kept cooking, washing, and attending to the children. How thankful should the females of Christian lands be that they live in a land where the religion of Jesus gives them these and other inestimable ble-sings.
